CRAFTSMAN (ARTS & CRAFTS)

Stemming from the 19th century American architectural philosophy, Craftsman homes generally feature a low-pitched roof and wide eaves overhang, with exposed roof rafters and decorative beams or braces under the gables. Columns are very important and frequently extend to ground level. False beams and/or brackets are encouraged as roof supports while stone may appear as an element but not as a full façade. Exterior choices are vinyl siding, Hardi board, Allura siding, or stucco.

FARMHOUSE

A style characterized by large wrap-around verandas, steeply pitched roofs, often accented with dormers, gables, and brackets. Simple details commonly found on Farmhouse homes include horizontal siding, shutters, and symmetrical windows. Features are kept clean and crisp.

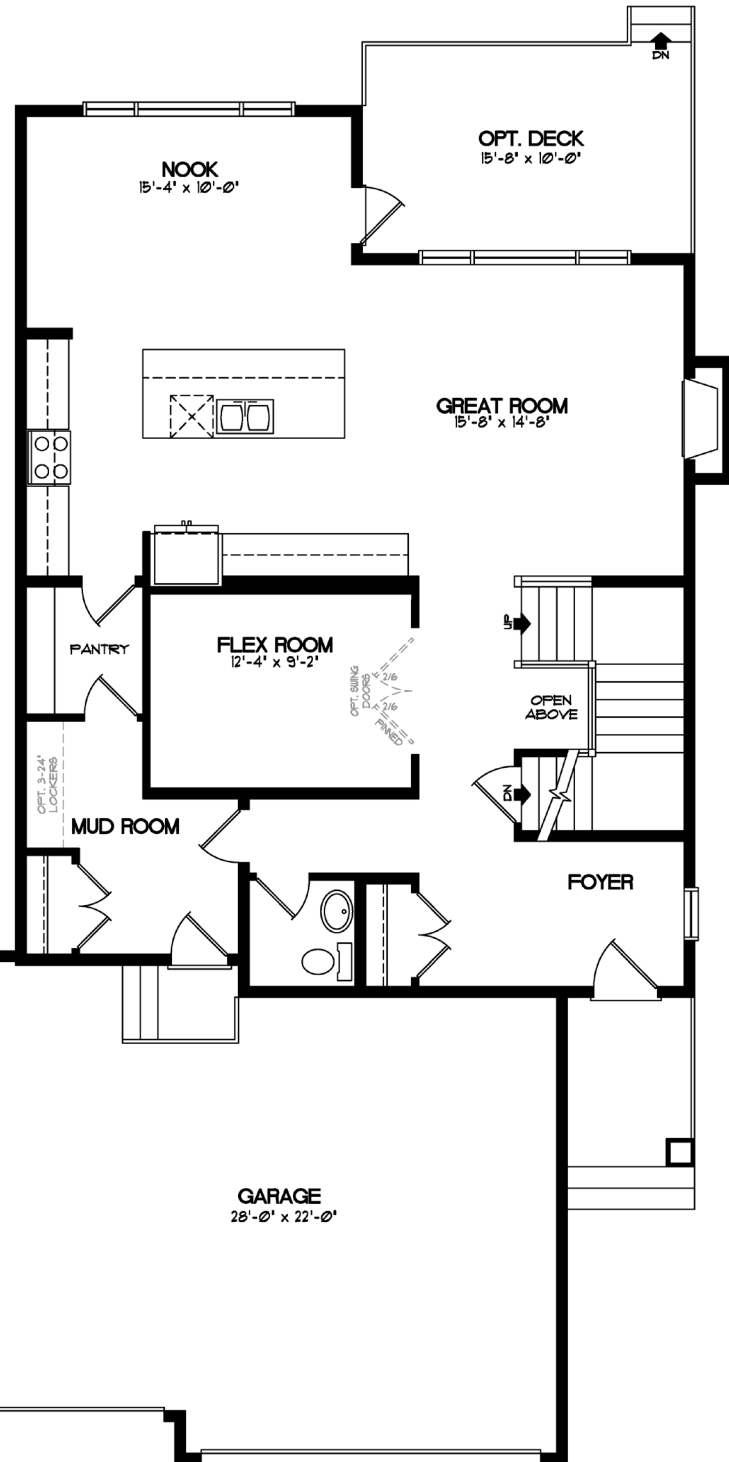

RANCH

Designed to bring the outdoors 'in', Ranch style homes emphasize generous Ribbon style windows and open floor plans, with rooms often opening onto partially enclosed patios to extend sightlines and square footage. Traditional detailing with moderate to widely overhanging eaves and decorative porch supports, and shutters characterize these homes. Low pitch Hip roofline detailing keeps the façade clean.

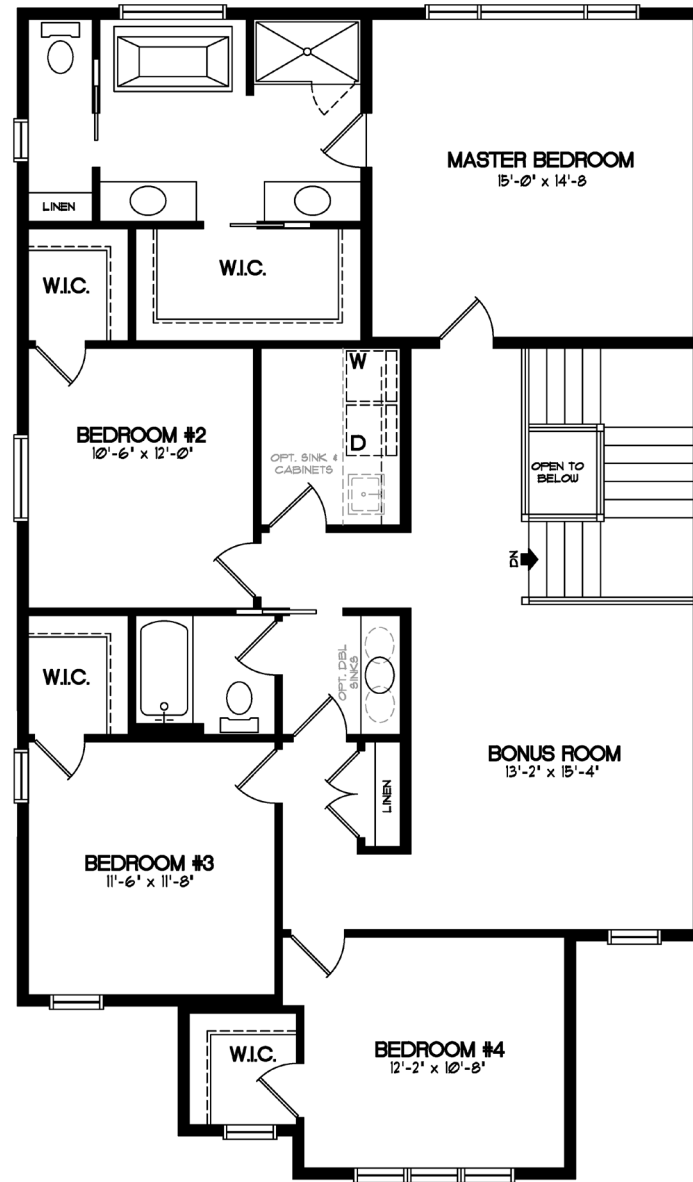

PRAIRIE (FOURSQUARE)

This distinctive style harkens back to Frank Lloyd Wright designs of the early 20th century. Unique and simplistic due to their square design, Prairie homes maintain their individuality through use of various heights and depths. Homes have low pitched roofs with widely overhanging eaves. Prairie style emphasizes horizontal lines, square front porch supports, bands of casement windows, and decorative banding along exterior walls. Exterior cladding is to be vinyl siding, Hardi board, Allura siding, or stucco and different floors may use contrasting materials.
